2 die in weekend traffic accidents

3rd is in serious condition

Deborah K. Miller, 36, and Michael Kramer, 32, both Granite City residents, were killed in separate traffic accidents over the weekend.

A third Granite City resident, Mike Seeley, a passenger in the car driven by Kramer, was in serious but stable condition at a St. Louis hospital Monday.

Miller, of the 1300 block of Chouteau Place Road, was pronounced dead at the scene of an accident on Highway 3, four-tenths of a mile north of Interstate 270, where her car was struck from behind by a tractor-trailer truck at 7:46 p.m. Friday.

Kramer, of the 3200 block of Edgewood Drive, was pronounced dead at Anderson Hospital in Maryville at 8:13 a.m. Sunday. He had lost control of a leased Honda Accord on Highway 157 near Hamel, left the road and struck a tree at 7:22 a.m.

Seeley, a resident of Village Lane Apartments, was flown by helicopter to St. Louis University Hospital following the accident Sunday morning.

Witnesses told police Miller was southbound in the far right lane of Highway 3 in her white and blue 1977 Oldsmobile Cutlass Supreme when a saw horse fell from a southbound pickup truck two cars ahead of her.

Miller slowed her vehicle almost to a stop, but a tractor-trailer truck owned by United Freight Express and traveling behind Miller struck the Oldsmobile in the rear end, killing Miller.

The driver of the tractor-trailer truck was ticketed for failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident.

The pickup truck responsible for the saw horse did not stop, and headed east on Interstate 270, witnesses told police.

Illinois State Police said that Kramer was southbound on Highway 157 Sunday morning and lost control of the leased Honda Accord he was driving on a curve in the road two-tenths of a mile north of mile marker 15 near Hamel.

Police say the car skidded 241 feet, left the east side of the road and struck a tree. The car was torn in half by the impact, and the rear of the car came to rest 30 feet south of the tree, police said.

Kramer was taken to Anderson Hospital by Edwardsville ambulance, and was pronounced dead.

Susan A. Walton with the painting that won three awards at the Gateway Artist Show in May.

Pontoon artist shoots 1st, paints later

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

Susan Walton began painting at age 12. But now, at 25, her art career has taken off like one of the fighter planes she painted on the walls at Grigsby Junior High School 13 years ago.

Walton, of Pontoon Beach, captured first place in oil technique, won a gold medallion from the Grumbacher Corp., and was awarded best of show at the recent Gateway Artist Guild contest in Glen Carbon for her "Eastern Cottontails: Ozark Autumn," an acrylic painting on watercolor paper.

"Yeah, I guess the price has gone up since the contest," Walton said.

Walton — whose subjects vary from animals in their natural settings to American Indians to fighter planes and Naval ships — prides herself on the accuracy with which she depicts her subject.

Her prices vary from a minimum of $250 to a fee she collected for painting a 6-by-19-foot mural at the Cahokia Mounds State Historic Site near Collinsville.

"I don't talk about the price on that one," she said.

"But my prices are pretty reasonable for murals, about a fourth of what others get, because I like to do the big ones ... The bigger it is, the cheaper it is."

To assure the accuracy of the flora and fauna in her paintings, Walton usually takes several photographs of her subject and then paints what she likes from the pictures, she said.

Her prize-winning cottontails were photographed on a

Pit bull ordered killed

By Shay Wessol

James Pourdas had nurtured his pit bull from a four-week-old puppy by feeding him from a bottle.

On Monday, Pourdas sadly agreed to have the dog, ironically named Slayer, put to death. The dog had attacked a three-year-old Alton boy last month in Granite City.

Kenneth and Carol Pratt filed for an injunction last month, asking that the courts find the pit bull a "vicious dog," after they learned that animal control officials were going to release the dog back to Pourdas.

Chief Circuit Judge Paul Riley issued an emergency order to hold the dog at the Madison County shelter until a full hearing could be conducted before Associate Judge Lewis Mallott.

On Monday, with both sides in agreement, Mallott ordered the dog to be "humanely dispatched as soon as possible."

Cab driver pleads guilty to murder

By Bob Slate
and Shay Wessol
Staff writers

A female taxicab driver charged in the brutal murder of Thomas Bauer last summer pleaded guilty Monday.

Roena Ashing, 39, then a resident of the 2000 block of Cleveland Boulevard and an employee of Rainbow Taxi Service, was the fifth and final person to plead guilty of first-degree murder in the case.

Ashing was the mastermind behind a plot to kill Bauer and steal $1,500 from his West Granite home, Assistant State's Attorney Robert Trone said at a hearing Monday.

The four others charged were Jeffrey L. Ramsey, 25, of the 2000 block of Cleveland Boulevard and said to be Ashing's boyfriend; Robert Russell, 19, of the same address; and Richard R. Loftis, 26, and John McIntyre, 18, both of the 500 block of Washington Avenue in Madison.

All four negotiated guilty pleas earlier this year in the death of Bauer, 57, of 2206 Illinois Ave.

In return for her plea, Ashing could receive a maximum sentence of 60 years in prison. All other charges against her, including arson, theft of over $300 and home invasion, will be dropped.

Normally, a charge of first-degree murder carries a sentence of 20 to 60 years, unless the court finds reason to extend the sentence to a maximum of 100 years.

Trone had previously said that, if the case went to trial, he would ask for the death sentence. He said Monday that he will recommend a 60-year term for Ashing.

Ashing's attorney, Rand Hale, acting as an assistant public defender, said he will ask the court to impose a 20-year sentence.

Ashing has been held without bond in

Lagging: Region's job recovery trails rest of state's

Employers with job openings are getting applications by the hundreds, anecdotal evidence that the region's economic recovery is lagging the rest of the state.

Illinois Department of Employment Security statistics show 4.5 percent fewer nonagricultural jobs in the area this April than a year ago. The Metro East is the only area in the state to show a decrease over the last year.

"Comparing this to the previous year, most areas (in the Metro East) have seen some decline," said IDES labor market economist Dennis Hoffman. "There were a lot of layoffs everywhere. All major areas saw either decline or remained the same."

And that means high demand when new job opportunities open.

Dan Bolin, human services director for the Alton Belle Casino II, said he was flooded with applications for about 200 new positions on the new boat.

"A conservative estimate is over 1,000 applications," Bolin said. "In this economy it wasn't really surprising."

He said the new positions, most of which were for food and beverage servers and dealers, have already been filled.

John Schaller, personnel director for the Catholic Children's Home in Alton, said the home expects as many as 50 applications for two positions opened last week.

"I guess we've got 25 or 30 already," he said. "We should get another 15 or 20. That's about the number we normally see."

Unemployment in the Metro East edged up to 8.7 percent in April, a third of a point higher than last year. The Metro East IDES statistics include Madison, Jersey, Clinton, Monroe and St. Clair counties.

Madison County had 8.5 percent unemployment in April, the same as a year ago.

Hoffman said job categories hit hardest in the last few years include mining, real estate and transportation.

Despite the discouraging comparisons with 1992 figures, Hoffman said the area economy has shown signs of improvement in the last few months.

"It will start to show improvement in the summer," he said. "Retail trade will continue to be strong. Manufacturing has actually been quite stable."

Statistics should show improvement at least until November, when seasonal layoffs begin, he said.

IDES Director Loleta Didrickson said statewide figures, which show an additional 44,700 jobs since last April, are a bit more encouraging but still below a full recovery.

Caughron was being held in lieu of $30,000 bond.

DUI arrest on Monroe

David M. Smith, 23, of the 2100 block of Bryan Avenue, was arrested at 1:17 a.m. June 4 for driving under the influence of alcohol.

An officer stopped a silver 1981 Datsun pickup truck for a routine traffic violation in the 2100 block of Monroe Street.

Smith, the driver, took three field sobriety tests, refused to take a breath analysis test and was charged.

4 charges against man

Kenneth L. Davidson, 21, of Fairmont City was arrested at 11:40 p.m. June 3 and charged with domestic battery, battery, resisting arrest and criminal damage to property.

Davidson allegedly punched his 23-year-old girlfriend in the nose and fled from the scene.

An officer reported seeing Davidson at Jack-in-the-Box, 2163 Madison Ave., and began a foot chase.

A struggle ensued in which Davidson kicked at officers and struggled to keep from being handcuffed, according to a police report.

An officer was injured and his walkie-talkie was damaged in the struggle, the report states.

Davidson allegedly swung a fist at an officer at the police station, and was subdued twice with pepper mace.

Davidson was also wanted on St. Clair County and Madison city warrants for failure to appear in court on traffic charges and a Granite City warrant alleging failure to appear on a charge of resisting arrest, the report states.

He was lodged pending $1,984 cash bail.

Pontoon burglary alleged

Darrell Lee Swift, 33, of Belleville was charged with burglary in a warrant issued June 4.

Pontoon Beach police allege that Swift entered the Pontoon Beach Water District building with the intent to commit a theft.

Bond was set at $50,000.

Bill to provide jobs to unemployed

Guaranteed jobs for people unemployed for more than 35 days will be created under the "Illinois Guaranteed Job Opportunity Act," a measure proposed by State Rep. Wyvetter Younge, D-East St. Louis.

The "Illinois Guaranteed Job Opportunity Act" creates a pilot program that will be administered by the Illinois Department of Labor, and provide jobs through various public works projects in the state.

"The people of my district and, yes, the people of this state need to be employed," Younge said. "I have been working on this problem for years. The unemployment rate is skyrocketing out of control in this state and I won't rest until something is done to address the situation."

Younge, who represents the 114th legislative district, one of the most depressed areas in Illinois, let alone the country, has made job creation and training her top priority in Springfield.

Younge's measure (HB 641), which creates the "Illinois Guaranteed Job Opportunity Act," was approved by both chambers of the General Assembly. It now begins the last leg of its journey on the way to becoming state law.

The bill, which requires federal funding to be implemented, is now on its way to Gov. Jim Edgar for final approval.

Vest loses on request for 40 separate trials

Dr. Thomas Bruce Vest has lost his legal battle for 40 separate trials on 40 counts of mail fraud.

U.S. District Judge William Beatty on Friday at East St. Louis turned down Vest's motion to grant him separate trials.

The inductment charges that Vest, 64, a radiologist, sent fraudulent bills to Medicare and insurance companies to collect payments based on false diagnoses.

Vest put false symptoms in patients' files at his Doctors Clinic, 4325 Alby St., Alton, near Alton Square, according to the indictment.

Vest then performed expensive diagnostic tests on the patients and sent the bills to Medicare and insurance companies from 1985 to 1992, the indictment claims.

Vest's 38,000-square-foot medical center opened in January 1986 with sophisticated state-of-the-art diagnostic equipment.

Vest asked Beatty to order separate trials for each of the 40 counts so he could attempt to prove witnesses perjured themselves before a grand jury.

"There is uncontestable evidence that the (prosecution's) witnesses have committed perjury," Vest said in a motion filed with Beatty.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Thomas Daly denied Vest's claims. "We have no knowledge of perjury or subornation of perjury by witnesses before the grand jury," Daly said in a document filed with Beatty.

Beatty agreed with Daly that the 40 counts should be tried together.

Vest has not hired a lawyer to defend him against the mail fraud charges. "At the present time I will continue to represent myself," Vest told a reporter.

OH MY ACHING CORNS!

A phrase so commonly used by those suffering needlessly from painful corns. Although trimming them affords temporary relief, within 1-2 months regrowth of the corn occurs along with the pain and discomfort. The reoccurance is due to the underlying calcium deposit causing excessive pressure where the skin responds by building up that corn itissue. In almost all instances the corn can be permanently removed by an in office procedure requiring little or no time off work. There is no need to suffer any longer. Move to 'middle,' Costello would advise the president

By Peggy O'Farrell
Staff writer

President Bill Clinton needs to get back to middle-of-the-road Democratic policies to shore up his shaky administration, U.S. Rep. Jerry Costello said Monday.

"He's varied from the mainstream and gone over a little bit too extreme to the left," Costello, D-Belleville, said during a tour of Parks College in Cahokia.

"He needs to get back to the center of things. That's where he ran his campaign from and that's where his support is."

Costello said he was the first Illinois congressman to endorse Clinton, "and the reason that I did that was he was the first Democrat to come along in so many years to bring us back to the mainstream."

Costello added that it is too early to write off the Clinton administration.

"First of all, I would remind everyone that this president's only been in office for four months and he has a four-year term.

Costello

"From a political standpoint, it might not have been advisable to take on some of the issues he's trying to tackle," Costello said.

"But from a practical standpoint, I have to commend him for having the guts to confront the two major issues facing the American people that earlier presidents have ignored, and those issues are reducing the deficit and health-care reform."

Spending for Medicare and Medicaid have increased 30 percent from last year, Costello said. Next year, he said, the total will climb to $240 billion, a figure he called "alarming."

"Most people don't realize that, for the first time in the history of this country, we will be spending almost as much on Medicare and Medicaid as we are on defense," he said. "Something has to be done to control the cost of health care."

Infrastructure improvement funds were a cornerstone of Clinton's economic package during his campaign, Costello said Metro East residents can already see work being done around the region because of federal action.

"On Oct. 1 we'll see some money released, and funds for Scott (Air Force Base) joint (civilian-military) use will be coming very shortly," he said.

He added that Illinois is "more fortunate" than many states in receiving federal funds.

He pointed to the Scott expansion project, the Metro Link light rail system opening this summer, the new Mississippi River bridge at Alton, renovations to the lock and dam system at Alton "and many other projects in the works."

One of those is the construction now under way of a new interchange at Mousette Lane and I-255 north of Cahokia.

The interchange will allow direct access to St. Louis Downtown Parks Airport and should encourage industrial and business growth, Costello said.

Campaign targets health issues

Just as the Clinton administration proposes increasing access to health care for everyone in the nation, maintaining a high quality of the existing system and reducing costs, the 1993 WINGS campaign at St. Elizabeth Medical Center is targeting those issues locally.

"Immunizations, physicals and routine medical care are basic requirements of every individual and family, regardless of their financial resources," said Ted Eilerman, president of SEMC.

"Our medical center operates its Family Services Clinic to meet this growing need in the area.

"Last year, low-income patients came to our clinic more than 11,000 times to receive subsidized health care."

The WINGS — We're Investing in New Growth at St. Elizabeth Medical Center — campaign supports the Family Services Clinic and expands basic, quality care to people who are currently unemployed, uninsured or without the means to pay for private physician services.

Those who support WINGS will also help purchase operating-room equipment which will utilize the latest technology for surgical procedures such as gall bladders, hernias, appendectomies and other surgeries.

"Though costs are increasing for many reasons, charitable donations help defray some of the expenses of caring for the health-care needs of the community," Eilerman said.

Sheriff urges higher court fees

Sheriff Bob Churchich is asking for an increase in court fees so he can add a deputy to the Madison County Courthouse security detail, despite a $143,000 surplus in the court security fund.

Six months ago, the County Board gave Churchich permission to spend an additional $35,000 from the fund to hire another deputy.

No one has been hired, however, because Churchich said not enough money is available.

"It's needed, there's no doubt about it, but I just don't think there's enough money to do it," he said Friday.

At the end of last year, the fund had a $143,000 surplus, an amount expected to grow to $228,000 by the end of the year, according to recent projections from the county auditor's office.

Churchich acknowledged the surplus but he said he was concerned there would not be enough money in the future years to keep paying an extra deputy.

"I'm going to have to get together with the chief judge to see if we can raise the (court) fees," he said.

Chief Circuit Judge Paul Riley was out of town and could not be reached for comment.

The court security fund is made up of fees paid by individuals filing civil cases and people convicted of felonies and misdemeanors.

Once the board gives the sheriff permission to spend security fund money, it is up to him to decide if and when to spend it.

Over the last four years, the fund has taken in $527,000, of which $384,000 was spent on maintaining and improving security at the courthouse, county figures showed.

The remaining $143,000 is unused surplus. By the end of this year, county officials expect the surplus to grow by another $85,000.

The sheriff wants the court fees increased, however, to ensure a steady stream of money to pay an extra deputy.

The fees were last increased in January 1992 under orders from the state Legislature.

At the time, civil filing fees for cases seeking awards of more than $15,000 went from $58 to $172. Fees for felonies doubled from $40 to $80, while fees for misdemeanors and petty offenses grew from $25 to $50.

Last fall, the County Board gave the sheriff permission to spend the additional $35,000 from the fund after Churchich claimed the three-deputy detail patroling the courthouse was insufficient to protect judges, attorneys, and the public.

An apparent theft of Poppy Day contributions May 28 occurred at Fehling and Nameoki roads rather than at 27th Street and Madison Avenue, Lenora Martin of American Legion Auxiliary 113 said. It is not certain whether the theft, reported to police and mentioned in the June 3 Press-Record, actually occurred, she added. Juvenile center may only get minimal renovation

Madison County officials may drop plans to build a new juvenile detention center and instead do the minimum renovations necessary to bring the existing facility up to state standards.

The renovations, including a new roof, sprinkler system and toilets in every cell, would be paid for out of the county's $10 million reserve fund.

Officials had considered asking voters in November for permission to raise taxes, but they appeared to be moving away from that strategy Thursday, citing the failure of a similar referendum two months ago.

"The bottom line is, we have no other choice but to dip into the (reserves)," County Administrator Jim Monday told the Finance Committee on Thursday.

The AAI/Campbell Inc. architectural firm of Collinsville is drawing up estimates on what it would cost to renovate the juvenile home, which has been plagued by a leaky roof and overcrowding for the last several years. Three years ago, AAI/Campbell estimated renovations would cost about $1.5 million.

The Illinois Attorney General's Office has threatened to sue the county if the juvenile center is not brought up to state Department of Corrections codes but has set no deadline on when the renovations must be completed.

One of the most costly changes ordered by state inspectors is the installation of toilets and sinks in each cell. Currently, inmates share bathrooms, a violation of Corrections Department rules.

County Board members had hoped to expand the 21-bed facility to 32 or 40 beds but that may not be possible now, board members said Thursday.

"From what I've heard, we're going to have to do some minimal renovations out there and that's it because it's all we can afford," said Finance Committee member Don Rea of Granite City.

Finance Committee Chairman Bill Little and county Auditor Fred Bathon have said they are wary of using reserve funds that may be needed in the next few years when revenues may not be sufficient to meet expenditures.

According to Bathon's most recent projections, the county will have to begin using more than $1 million in reserve funds every year beginning in 1995 to stay in the black.

Little has repeatedly encouraged the Finance Committee and full County Board to ensure the reserve fund maintains sufficient money to cover three months of operating costs, or about $6 million.

Monday, however, said that given the voters' rejection of the proposed tax increase in April, the reserves appear to be the only available source of revenue for the juvenile home project.

"We know lean times are around the corner but we have a problem now that needs to be addressed," Monday said.

The Finance Committee took no formal action on the proposal to renovate the juvenile home but is expected to meet with the Buildings, Health Institutions and Judiciary committees this week.

Weather produces strawberry bonanza

The cool, wet spring is sprouting a bumper crop of strawberries across the area.

"They're big, juicy and as round as a silver dollar," said Darrell Craft of Grandpa's Berry Farm on Sand Road, southwest of Edwardsville.

"They're redder and bigger this spring," he said. "Some berries are 3 inches in diameter."

Berry lovers are enjoying some of the best picking in five years in Grandpa's strawberry patches, Craft said.

"Folks are picking baskets full of Red Chief and Lateglow varieties.

"They like them on shortcakes with whipped cream," Craft said, and also turn them into pies, jam and pancake syrup. "Strawberries are a popular health food. They're loaded with vitamin C and calcium."

Strawberry growers across the Metro East are trying to recoup losses from a disastrous 1992 season. "Berries wilted in the hot, humid spring last year," Craft said.

"It's the biggest, juiciest strawberry crop in years," fruit grower Walter Bohn said. "Last year's season was a failure."

People will pick nearly 26,000 quarts of strawberries this season on the Bohn vegetable farm west of Maryville in Madison County.

Customers ride a farm wagon into the strawberry patches, Bohn said. "They'll pick about 5,000 quarts an acre on five acres this season."

Customers can pick their own strawberries for 79 cents a pound until the season ends in three weeks, Bohn said.

The telephone started ringing early in March at the fruit farm, he said. "Strawberry lovers were anxious to know when they can start picking."

Pickers were waiting at sunrise on the first day of the season in the middle of May, Bohn said. "Some of the same folks come year after year to pick enough berries to freeze for the winter," he said.

Honeyeye, Apollo and Cardinal are some of the favorite varieties that grow in the rich loess soil on Bohn's farm. "Strawberries grow redder and tastier in the light brown loess," Bohn said.

The cool, wet spring may also produce a record crop of raspberries and blackberries this summer, Craft said.

"You can look across the fields and see row after row of plants loaded with raspberries," he said.

Craft will show off his new fields of gold raspberries when the season opens June 25. "Gold raspberries are rare in the Midwest. They're sweet as honey," he said.

Handicapping Swim Program to begin

On June 10 and 11 the training of volunteers will kick off the beginning of the 19th year of the Handicapped Swim Program in the Tri-City Chapter of the American Red Cross.

The overall purpose of the program is to teach the physically handicapped to swim or to swim better, and to use this medium to provide the participants with a freedom and mobility they are otherwise denied. The program is available free of charge to any qualifying individual in the Tri-City area.

A physician's certification will be required. The program will be conducted at a private swimming facility in Granite City. The program will be held June 14 through July 2, Monday through Friday.

Volunteer assistants are also needed. Over the past 18 years of the program, volunteers from all walks of life have participated as volunteer assistants for the students. Minimum age for volunteers is 15; there is no maximum age. Training is required.

Registration is limited and is offered on a first-come, first-serve basis. Those wishing to participate may contact the local Red Cross Office at 452-7184.

Joint Use opponents fight bonds

By Bonita Tillman
Staff writer

Opponents of approval of the $70 million Scott Joint Use bond issue turned in petitions to fight the bonds Thursday, less than an hour before the deadline.

The Citizens Against Scott Joint Use and the organization, Conserve Our Present Environment (COPE), filed the petitions with St. Clair County Clerk Janice Delaney's office. The signatures had not been counted by press time Friday.

The groups needed 11,400 signatures of registered voters to keep the county from issuing the bonds, which will provide capital to pay contractors building the airport.

If the required number of signatures were turned in, the county would have to place the matter on the November ballot for a referendum.

Richard Bossler, a St. Clair County Board member and a staunch opponent of the airport and bonds, had said the groups did not feel county officials had kept promises they initially made about financing for the $310 million project.

Bossler on Friday said he wasn't sure the group had enough signatures. He also said there was some confusion over the actual deadline for petitions to be filed.

County officials have warned that the petition drive would not stop them from getting the funds. It would force the price of the project to rise because the county would have to seek other bonds which have higher interest rates.

Report supports casinos, video poker

SPRINGFIELD — Adding casinos and legalizing tavern video poker would help the economy without harming society, a preliminary report from a House task force on gaming concludes.

However, the report written by Rep. Lou Lang, D-Skokie, was criticized by two members as underestimating the potential for increased crime and taking away resources from other business.

Lang, chairman of the task force appointed by House Speaker Michael Madigan, D-Chicago, sponsored unsuccessful legislation last year to authorize a proposed $2 billion casino and entertainment complex in downtown Chicago.

A majority of the task force was made up of business and labor representatives backing the Chicago casino plan.

The report does not specifically endorse proposals for more casinos in Chicago or elsewhere in the state but merely concludes it would be an economic benefit overall.

But task force members Terry Brunner, who heads the Better Government Association in Chicago, and Doug Roller, who heads the Chicago Crime Commission, argued Monday that Lang's report soft-pedaled the potential for organized crime involvement and increased gambling addiction.

Brunner also argued the report underestimated the potential loss of other jobs that could result from Chicago area residents spending money at casinos instead of on other goods and services.

Lang's report contended concerns about increased crime were not justified because there was no evidence that it had increased in the communities with riverboat gambling.

Chicago casino backers cite success of Alton Belle

SPRINGFIELD — The success of the Alton Belle Casino is one of the reasons being cited by a top aide to Chicago Mayor Richard Daley to support floating casinos in the state's most populous city.

The aide, Gery Chico, said the Belle and other riverboat casinos are "the equivalent of a gold rush."

"The Alton Belle went public last year and sold 17 percent of its equity for $60 million.

"On paper, the Alton Belle is worth about $350 million, more than 20 times what it cost two years ago when it opened," Chico told a hearing of the House Judiciary I Committee Wednesday.

Chico was referring to the public stock offering for Argosy Gaming Co., which owns the Alton Belle.

He unveiled a Chicago proposal seeking authority for five floating casinos, with 6,000 gaming positions.

"The mayor feels an obligation to the people of Chicago to see that they get a fair share of gaming revenues," Chico said.

However, the Chicago proposal calls for a much bigger tax bite and more local control than was given to riverboat casinos now operating.

The city is seeking a 25 percent tax on gaming revenues, compared with 20 percent on the existing boats. The same split would exist, 75 percent going to the state and 25 percent to the local government.

Chicago officials also want $9 per passenger in admission taxes, compared with $2 under the current law.

It would give $1 to Chicago per passenger, $1 to the state, $6 to the financially depressed Chicago public school system, 50 cents to the horse racing industry and 50 cents to municipalities with existing riverboat gambling that can prove they have been hurt by a Chicago gaming operation.

The state and host municipalities each get a $1 head tax under the current riverboat law.

An 8 percent franchise fee on the gaming revenues would also be imposed by the city.

The House committee has set more hearings this week.

Belle official sues Connors

The top operations officer of Argosy Gaming Co., the owner of the Alton Belle casinos, is suing a major stockholder in the company, alleging he was cheated out of a stock deal worth $50 million.

H. Steven Norton filed suit in Madison County Circuit Court Thursday alleging John T. Connors reneged on an oral agreement to cut Norton in on Connors' Argosy stock.

Norton took over as chief operating officer of Argosy in January after Connors resigned the position because of the growing demands of the company as it expanded into other ventures.

Norton said in the suit that the oral agreement was made in August 1991 when Norton was a consultant to the Alton Riverboat Gambling Partnership Inc.

What Closeouts, Buyouts and Overruns Mean To Shoppers' Wallets

When people think of Big Lots, words like "closeouts," "buyouts," and "manufacturers' overruns" come to mind. All of this adds up to great bargains. But many people may not exactly understand what these words mean, or the benefits of shopping a closeout store. Kent Larsson, director of marketing for Consolidated Stores, parent company of Big Lots, explains.

How is Big Lots able to offer such great prices on merchandise?

Kent Larsson: Big Lots is the country's largest and most successful closeout retailer. Closeout retailing specializes in giving people rock-bottom prices on quality name brand merchandise, which is made available through the steady supply of product and packaging changes, manufacturers' overruns, liquidations and bankruptcies.

Although shoppers don't always know exactly what products and brands they will find at Big Lots, they know they are getting tremendous savings because the merchandise is always purchased on deal.

What are some examples of how merchandise is found for your stores?

Kent Larsson: Our buyers are experts at finding incredible deals on every kind of product imaginable throughout the world.

For example, Vons had made their entire stock of golf bags for this year, but there was a lot of material left over. Rather than throwing away the material, they made an overrun of golf bags, and sold the excess inventory to Big Lots at an incredibly low price.

Big Lots also now has children's life jackets with Disney patterns available. We were able to buy these jackets at such a great price simply because the patterned jackets had last year's design.

Another example is a six-piece microwave dish set now available at Big Lots. These dishes were made specifically for a warehouse club that decide to discontinue carrying them. So the dishes were sold to us, and are now available at below discount prices at Big Lots stores.

These are just a few examples which demonstrates how Big Lots finds its merchandise, and has become the country's leading closeout retailer. When companies decide to make product or packaging changes, or have a product oversupply, they still want to sell the rest of the inventory. That's when Big Lots step in, buys the merchandise on deal, and passes the savings on to customers.

Closeout shopping benefits everyone - most important the consumer. Big Lots. The Closeout Store. "Glad We Can Help!"

Elvis license plate bill gets shot down

SPRINGFIELD — Elvis is dead. Elvis lives. Elvis is dead again.

A proposal to create an Elvis Presley license plate, twice passed by the House, has been shot down again by the Senate.

After the initial Senate defeat, The King's sponsor, Rep. Clem Balanoff of Chicago, added the Elvis bill to a bill creating a license plate for Korean War veterans.

The House approved the plates last Wednesday but the Senate rejected Elvis Thursday.

Senators will send the bill to a committee where Elvis will be removed from the bill, leaving only the veterans' plate.

Illinois veterans of the Korean War would be eligible for the plates, which will cost $15 more than regular plates. The added revenue will reimburse the Secretary of State's Office for the cost of making and issuing the special plates.

Rep. Bill Black of Danville said the 200,000 state residents who served in the Korean War deserved to be honored by a special plate.

Elvis plates would have cost about $40 more than regular plates with $25 from each plate going to a drug treatment and counseling fund.

Balanoff said the Elvis plates would produce extra revenues without raising taxes.

THERESA MONTANA SAYS THE ARRANGEMENT SHE MADE WITH THE YELLOW PAGES IS ONE OF HER BEST YET.

Theresa Montana, president & co-owner of City Scents Florists, Chicago, IL

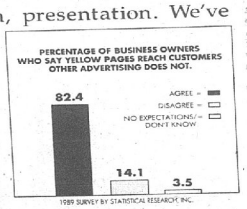

It's a thing of beauty. Customers walking into your store saying they were drawn there by an ad you ran.

Theresa Montana, and her husband Pat, have seen this time and again since opening their doors in 1989. The same time they started advertising in the Ameritech PagesPlus.® The Yellow Pages.

"To be honest, I didn't believe in the Yellow Pages at first," says Theresa. "I asked Pat, can we really afford it? But so many customers come to us through the Yellow Pages, I'm a true believer. We made the right decision."

The secret of Theresa's Yellow Pages success?

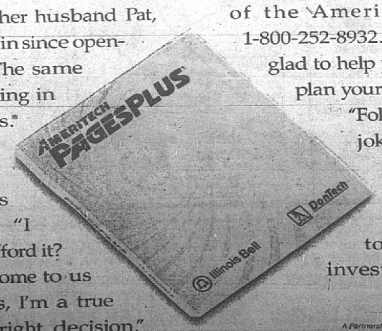

"Like with flowers, presentation, presentation, presentation. We've increased the size of our ads each year. You have to be eye-catching to stand out. The way they're designed and positioned on the page, you can really make 'em pop."

The Yellow Pages are attractive in other ways as well. Fact is, 82.4% of businesses surveyed say the Yellow Pages reach customers other forms of advertising do not.

To help your business grow like the Montana's, just call DonTech, publisher of the Ameritech PagesPlus,® at 1-800-252-8932. A local area rep will be glad to help you design your ad and plan your budget.

"Folks are always coming in joking, 'Hey, is business blooming?' Well, because of the Yellow Pages, we're always able to say yes. It's a great investment."

Legislature approves bill on estate planning fraud

The General Assembly has given final approval to a bill backed by Attorney General Roland Burris that addresses the growing problem of fraud against senior citizens in the sale of estate planning documents known as "living trusts."

The bill would make it a crime for anyone other than a lawyer to assemble, draft or execute a living trust.

It now goes to Gov. Jim Edgar for approval.

House Bill 2163 was proposed by Burris in response to numerous reports of fraud and misrepresentation in the sale of living trusts. The legislation was sponsored by Rep. Bob DeJaegher, D-East Moline, and Sen. Art Berman, D-Chicago.

A living trust is a legal document wherein an individual's property is transferred into the name of a trust.

During the individuals' lifetime, he or she will continue to manage the property just as if it were still in his or her name; however, in the event of disability or death, a successor trustee would be authorized to administer the property as necessary.

"Living trusts are not suitable for every situation," Burris said. "Living trusts can only be properly executed under the watchful eye of an attorney licensed to practice law in Illinois, but in recent months we have seen an alarming increase in the sale of these plans by people who are not qualified to do so.

"This legislation is necessary to end the fraud and deceptions that have invaded the living trust industry and to protect Illinoisans from expensive and unnecessary arrangements which would ultimately do far more harm than good."

Last September, Burris filed suit against a company which allegedly defrauded senior citizens out of more than $400,000 by exaggerating both the benefits of living trusts and the drawbacks of other estate planning arrangements.

However, that suit, which is still pending, is only a civil action.

Under the legislation approved, prosecutors would also be able to seek criminal penalties against unauthorized persons dealing in living trusts.

A first violations would be a Class A misdemeanor under HB 2163; second or subsequent offenses would be Class 4 felonies.

"Living trusts, in the hands of unscrupulous con artists, are one of the fastest growing areas of fraud against senior citizens," Burris said.

"We want to take living trusts out of their dishonest hands, and put them in the hands of people with the consumer's best interest at heart."

The bill now moves to the Governor's desk to await final action.

SIU trustees to vote Thursday on Edwardsville annexation plan

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and Edwardsville city officials have finally gotten on the same track, which may lead west for the city if the university's trustees approve an annexation Thursday.

The SIU Board of Trustees will consider letting the city annex the U.S. Olympic Festival track stadium site as well as a 300-foot-wide strip along the campus' western edge to New Poag Road for a sewer easement.

Annexing the strip would open the gates to potential city annexations west of the campus in prime development areas near Illinois 111 and the planned Alton Bypass, an extension of Interstate 255 from I-270.

City and university officials had been at odds about the annexation and sewer easement.

Edwardsville Mayor Gary Niebur said the annexation and construction of the 4-mile interceptor sewer to the west would open up new opportunities for the city's growth.

"Obviously, we believe it's extremely important," Niebur said. "It opens up some viable options for future development."

Niebur said the sewer, expected to cost about $725,000, is designed not only for the stadium but for other expected development.

"It will allow service in that area for many, many years to come," he said. "It is designed more for the future than the festival. If Edwardsville's going to have any industrial growth, that is probably the area where it will take place."

St. Louis is the host city for the Olympic Festival next July that will draw thousands of amateur athletes, many of whom are attempting to make the country's Olympic teams for 1996. The track events will be held in the new stadium near the existing track and soccer facilities off Bluff Road.

Not only will the city provide the sewer service, Edwardsville needs to annex the stadium site to clear the way for construction of the $5.8 million facility because $3.5 million in state-backed bonds must have city oversight.

Seeing the opportunity for westward growth, former Mayor Dennis DeToye began negotiating for the western edge annexation for the sewer, but university officials wanted only the track site annexed and the sewer to extend south to an existing line.

At one point, SIUE President Earl Lazerson issued a statement saying he had never spoken with city officials about annexation, even though DeToye said the talks had taken place on several occasions.

Later, the university said it wanted to separate the sewer easement and annexation issues, but city officials said it was in the city's interests to link the two.

SIUE Vice President for Administration Benjamin Quillian Jr. said the city and university have cooperated closely on the stadium project. He said he sees no detriment to SIUE in allowing the annexation.

Burris issues rulings on officials

Illinois Attorney General Roland W. Burris has issued two separate "compatibility of office" opinions, advising that one person may not simultaneously hold seats on a school board and county board, but one person may serve on a school board and library board at the same time.

Compatibility of office questions are among the most frequently-asked by state's attorney's seeking official opinions from the Attorney General. As a rule, offices are incompatible when it is not possible to fully and faithfully discharge all of the duties of each office because of conflicting responsibilities.

In an opinion issued to Woodford County State's Attorney John B. Huschen, Burris concluded that such a conflict exists in the offices of county board members and school board member.

Burris found that a number of provisions in state law give counties and school districts the authority and opportunity to contract with one another, in areas such as zoning, leases, and donations of land.

Since the best interests of each body in such an instance may differ and one person could not, therefore, properly represent the interests of each, Burris found out that the offices are incompatible and one person may not simultaneously hold both seats.

The Burris opinion also upholds a similar opinion from 1973, which also found the offices to be incompatible, but which was based only on the possible conflicts concerning revenue sharing between the county and school district. A second opinion, issued to Cook County State's Attorney Jack O'Malley, concludes that no such conflict exists with a person who simultaneously serves on a school board and a library board.

"I knew I wanted to do rabbits, and a friend of mine told me the Eastern Cottontails are getting scarce because of coyotes," she said.

The painting depicts two such creatures among cinquefoil, a type of buttercup; uniola latifolia, also known as northern wild oats; and an eastern cedar tree — all as they would appear in autumn.

Walton said she probably spends more time in researching her subject matter than she does at the easel.

"Working quickly, I can finish a picture in about four days, and I work on about 10 at a time," she said.

She is now working on painting airplanes for a Pontoon Beach resident with an aviation collection in his basement. Those works start out at about $350 each, she said.

She has been offered up to $800 for a painting of a Naval ship on which her brother was stationed.

"But I won't part with it," she said.

"So far, painting has been profitable. It helps to make the house payments, and I've used it to pay my way through school," she said.

Walton is working at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville toward an engineering degree.

Pourdas said. "It's been tragic for everyone."

The boy, Brandon Pratt, was walking home from Wilson Park on May 13 when the dog attacked him. Brandon needed 200 stitches in his left upper arm, according to the lawsuit.

Pourdas said he and his uncle were playing with the dog in the uncle's yard when Slayer suddenly ran around the corner. "It all happened so quick," he said.

"By the time we got back there my dog had (bitten) his arm, but it didn't look like he had ahold of him.

"I know this boy is hurt," he said. "It was an accident — a freak accident. I tried to do everything I could to help."

Slayer, who was named after a rock band, was a gift from one of Pourdas' friends.

He said the dog was meant to be a watchdog, and had never attacked anyone or been hard to control.

Pourdas had to get rid of his other pit bull, Knuckles, in February after a five-year friendship because she wouldn't obey.

"I probably won't be getting another dog for a long time," he said.

On Monday, Brandon sat on his mother's lap during the hearing, bouncing playfully but carefully shielding the crisscross of red scars along his arm.

He was looking forward to going to McDonald's for lunch, he said.

"Mickey-D's always makes everything better for him," Carol Pratt said.

the Madison County Jail since being charged.

No date has been set for sentencing, Trone said.

The murder plot originated after Ashing withdrew $500 from Bauer's account at the Granite City Steel Credit Union on Aug. 6 of last year and failed to give the money to him, Trone said during the hearing.

After Bauer filed charges of theft with the Granite City police on Aug. 8, Ashing became "highly concerned over this particular situation" and told McIntyre and Ramsey that she wanted Bauer killed, Trone said.

On Aug. 10, three of the four men broke into Bauer's house, beat Bauer with a skillet "until the bottom broke out of it," wrapped a belt around his neck and set his body on fire with hopes of finding $1,500 that Ashing said was hidden in his residence on Illinois Avenue, Trone said.

Bauer, who was confined to a wheelchair, was pronounced dead in his burned-out home at 2:59 a.m. Aug. 10 by Madison County Coroner Investigator Roger Smith.

After the fire was extinguished — about 30 hours after he filed the police report — Bauer's body was discovered in his bed without signs of life and with a belt wrapped around his neck.

An autopsy revealed that Bauer died of strangulation.

Police believe the fire was set in an attempt to cover up the murder.

"The Granite City Police Department did an excellent job of investigating the case," Trone said Monday.

Trone said Loftis was sentenced Monday to the minimum of 20 years because he knew little about the murder plot and waited in a car two and a half blocks away while the others entered Bauer's home.

Trone has said he will recommend a 55-year prison term for Ramsey, a 50-year term for McIntyre, and a 35-year term for Russell in exchange for their guilty pleas.

He said those three gave conflicting accounts of who hit Bauer over the head, how Bauer was strangled and by whom.

Edgar gets bill to make mandatory insurance permanent

Secretary of State George H. Ryan's proposal to make Illinois' mandatory insurance law permanent sailed over its final legislative hurdle recently and now awaits the governor's signature.

The measure, House Bill 1798, passed the Senate with no opposition. It won unanimous approval in the House last month.

The legislation would permanently extend the law past December 31, turn up the heat on previous violators and streamline enforcement. The law, which requires all Illinois drivers to carry liability insurance, first took effect Jan. 1, 1990, on a four-year trial basis.

"By every indicator, mandatory insurance has been a success in Illinois," Ryan said. "Since the law took effect, we have cut the number of uninsured drivers by more than half, and collisions involving uninsured motorists have fallen steadily.

"At the time, premiums in Illinois have gone up more slowly than other states. In fact, the cost of insurance actually fell in some parts of the state last year."

Since the law's passage, Illinois' uninsured rate has dropped from 17 percent to about 7 percent. As a result, the number of reported collisions involving uninsured motorists has fallen steadily.

Under current law, vehicle owners who don't carry liability insurance face fines of $500 to $1,000 and a two-month license plate suspension. To have the suspension lifted, they must get insurance and pay court fines plus a reinstatement fee.

Based on the recommendations of his Mandatory Insurance Advisory Board, Ryan's bill would create a mail-verification program specifically to make all known insurance violators prove they are maintaining insurance coverage. The sampling pool also would include anyone who receives court suspension.

Additionally, the measure would raise the reinstatement fee from $50 to $100, but end the plate suspension for first-time offenders as soon as they obtain insurance and pay all fines and fees.

Pest Control

What controls what, and how?

FRANK'S® NURSERY & CRAFTS
Where Beautiful Things Begin

Pests in your yard and garden come in all shapes and sizes. The neighbor youngster who owns the basketball in your shrubs may be considered a pest by some, but we're going to discuss the serious ones here. Insects and diseases, the real pests that can destroy your plants.

Often you can sit back and let nature handle the pest problem, but sometimes you have to take control. That's where Frank's comes in. Controls are in abundance, and you'll find one for your particular situation.

When you first walk into Frank's and see the many pest control products on the shelf, you may become a bit confused. Don't worry, a lot of people are. Most of us don't know what product is for what pest, so we'll describe a few of them. If you're still in doubt, ask one of Frank's experts.

Insect Controls

These take care of aphids, caterpillars and many others. The products are often associated with the terms contact, systemic, active ingredient and residual. A contact insect control must touch the pest to become effective. It is applied to the pest and plant on which it is feeding. A systemic pest control is sort of like magic. Pests on all plant parts are controlled, even those not actually touched by the product. The systemic insecticide is applied to the soil or foliage and the active ingredient circulates throughout the plant. The active ingredient is the chemical in the product that does the dirty work; it controls the pests. A systemic doesn't take effect immediately; it usually takes a few days before you notice results. Residual is the length of time a product's active ingredient remains effective. A systemic usually has a longer residual than a contact.

Use contact insect controls for: grubs, aphids, tent caterpillars, cutworms, earwigs, Japanese beetles, webworms, scales, lacebugs, Mexican bean beetles, fleas and mosquitoes.
Use systemic insect controls for: lacebugs, black vine weevils, thrips, sawflies, leafminers, mealybugs and spider mites.
Use botanical insect controls for: aphids, flea beetles, whiteflies, leafrollers, lacebugs and Colorado potato beetles.

Natural Insect Controls

These are tough on the bad guys, but friendly with helpful insects and other garden friends. These products include botanicals, biologicals and insecticidal soaps. Botanicals contain plant extracts that just happen to have natural pest control properties. You might say they were born with it! Rotenone and pyrethrins are botanicals. Biologicals use natural enemies to control pests. Bacillus thuringiensis (fortunately, Bt), is a disease that attacks the caterpillar stage of moths and butterflies. Insecticidal soaps are similar to household detergents, but detergents are made to clean dishes and silverware. Insecticidal soaps are made to control insects and their relatives.

Disease Controls

Insects aren't the only pests in the garden. Plants are vulnerable to several maladies. Fungicides control fungal diseases, molds and mildews. Some fungicides (protectants) protect only the plant part that is coated with the product. Other fungicides are systemic and work the same way as systemic insect controls.
Use protectant fungicides for: dollar spot, gray mold, brown rot, powdery mildew, scab, brown rot, black spot.
Use systemic fungicides for: powdery mildew, rust.

Columbia woman on CUB board

Judith Rau of Columbia took her seat May 1 as a new director for the Citizens Utility Board from the 12th Congressional District.

Rau has been a practicing attorney for 17 years and has been active in the Illinois State Bar Association.

"CUB has taken on some of the largest foes of utility consumers in the state and won," Rau said. "My law firm has given me a wide variety of experience, which will be a useful background in serving the citizens of the state of Illinois as a CUB director."

CUB is a non-profit, statewide consumer advocacy organization working for lower rates for Illinois utility customers. The CUB board is elected by CUB members in each of Illinois' 20 congressional districts.

CUB welcomed a new board of directors May 1.

Thirteen directors are new to the board, while seven past directors returned to their positions. Directors from even-numbered districts will serve two-year terms, while those from odd-numbered districts will serve for four years. The board sets CUB policies and budgets, and directors act as local spokesperson for the organization.

SIUE names head of plant operations

Robert B. Washburn of Fayetteville, Ark., has been named director of plant operations at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. The appointment, which became effective May 24, was announced by Benjamin Quillan, SIUE vice president for administration, and is subject to confirmation by the SIU Board of Trustees.

Washburn, who until recently served as associate director of the physical plant department at the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville, will be responsible for planning, organizing and directing all day-to-day physical plant operations and maintenance functions at SIUE, including estimating and scheduling; building and grounds maintenance; custodial operations; energy management and conservation; and business management.

A native of Illinois, Washburn received his baccalaureate degree in general engineering from the University of Illinois in 1975, and he studied business administration through graduate extension courses from SIUE in 1976 and 1977. He completed a master's degree in the higher education leadership program at the University of Arkansas last year. He has been registered as a professional engineer in Wisconsin since 1979 and in Arkansas since 1986.

Visions of state title vanished on rainy field

By Tony Panozzo
Staff writer

The Lady Warrior soccer team played through injuries, a mid-season slump and even snow this season. But the Lady Warriors hardly expected the winterlike conditions that awaited them when they played Downers Grove South last Friday in the state quarterfinals at Naperville Central High School.

A steady rain began falling in the middle of the afternoon Friday in Naperville, and it continued throughout the rest of the first-round games. By the time Granite City took the field against Downers Grove South for the fourth game of the day, the temperature had fallen to the low 40s.

Besides being far from ideal, the conditions took away from Granite City's pass-control offense and served as an inadvertent boost for Downers South's kick-and-run style.

LUCK SIMPLY wasn't on Granite City's side Friday, Coach Gene Baker said he knew what his team was in for as the rain continued to batter the field.

"The only reason it was tough to wait was because the girls wanted to play so bad," Baker said. "The field was tough. It was just one of those things.

"The biggest problem was keeping them focused."

After the Lady Warriors gave up an early goal, they recovered and played the Mustangs to a standstill in the first half. The second half, however, was all Granite City.

THE LADY Warriors bombarded Downers Grove South with a number of scoring opportunities, including Julie Goclan's rocket from the left sideline on a free kick. Downers South goalkeeper Heather Miller barely got a hand on the shot, which hit the crossbar and somehow managed to just fall to the ground without rebounding.

Downers Grove South dodged other key chances for the Lady Warriors. With just under 20 minutes left in the game, Kami Kessel created a play that earned a corner kick. The resulting free kick was turned away by the Mustangs.

"(Kessel) had them beaten," Baker said.

Ford outlasts challenger in feature win

By Steve Birmingham
Correspondent

Scott Ford made his second appearance at Tri-City Speedway count by holding off Tim Ratajczyk and winning Saturday's Clark Oil Racing Series Modified feature.

FORD LED every lap but was not without challenge with both Marc McClintock and Ratajczyk trying for the front. As McClintock dogged Ford for the first six laps, Ratajczyk threaded his way through traffic. He put away McClintock in turn two and pulled even with Ford at the Start/Finish line, but couldn't make the money pass.

Todd Bishop, winner of the May 1 360 Sprint season opener, picked up where he left off by sweeping the two 15-lap features Saturday. After taking the green in the first main, Bishop passed eight cars on his rush to the front. By the sixth circuit he had a half-lap lead and was lapping the field by the tenth.

Mark Siciliano led the first 11 laps of the second main, but Bishop would not be denied. Charging from the fifth row, Bishop caught and passed Siciliano in turn three, bringing Chuck Schlosser along with him. Bryan Grimes, Tommy Scott and Chip Thomas followed.

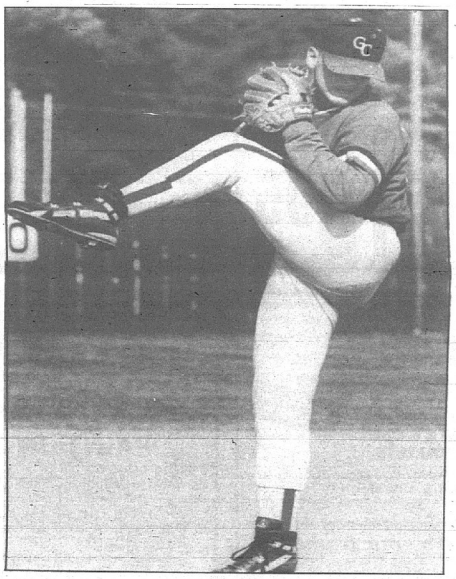

Jeff Masson won his first-ever Modified heat race at Tri-City, while Marc McClintock took second. Tim Ratajczyk won the trophy dash.

In Limited Sportsman action, Bob Bittle won his fourth feature in five attempts. Stu Springer and Bob Martintoni trailed.

Maroons defend sectional crown

State-bound West beats Edwardsville, 4-1

By David Wilhelm

Granite City senior pitcher Joe Rieser delivers in last week's regional title game against Edwardsville. The Tigers lost to Belleville West in Monday's Granite City Sectional championship game.

Going into Monday's baseball game against Edwardsville, Belleville West coach Chuck Hasenstab hoped his team could score first so it could negate the Tigers' aggressive running game. The Maroons obliged.

West jumped out to a 3-0 first-inning lead, then added another run in the second on its way to a 4-1 victory over the Tigers in the championship game of the Granite City Sectional. The win gave the Maroons their second straight berth in the Class AA state tournament.

THE MAROONS (23-6) will play Morris (36-2) at 11 a.m. Friday in a quarterfinal game at Elfstrom Stadium in Geneva. The Redskins — ranked among the nation's top 10 teams by USA TODAY — defeated Freeport 8-1 to win the Galesburg Sectional. West beat Morris in the quarterfinals at last year's state tourney on its way to placing second.

"This year at the very beginning of the year, they wanted to go back (to the sectional)," Hasenstab said of his players. "They wanted to get to the sectional again and get a chance to go back to the state tournament because they were all with the bunch last year.

"Last year's bunch was very different. They had never been there. They were just trying to become a ballclub and they surprised themselves at the end by getting on a winning streak and going to the state tournament."

West's clutch performer against Edwardsville was pitcher Scott Hilpert. Hilpert worked six innings and allowed the Tigers just one run on three hits before giving way to Roy Tippett. Tippett pitched a scoreless seventh to earn a save.

"I JUST WANTED five (out of Hilpert) and he gave me six, so I was very, very happy," said Hasenstab. "I'm not at all disappointed. I wasn't planning to go with him that long, but he pitched so well that I thought I'd give him a chance."

Hilpert responded — with some help from his teammates.

With West leading 4-0 in the second, Edwardsville's Brad Evans led off with a walk. After Jason Mahler struck out, Jason Cluster bunted down the first-base line. Hilpert picked the ball up, but overthrew first for an error.

However, right fielder Pete Trapp quickly recovered the errant throw and fired to third in time to get Evans for the second out of the inning. Chris Viox

Tigers survive marathon game with Bulldogs

By David Wilhelm
Staff writer

It was a high school baseball game that had everything.

Nobody could have expected what they saw Saturday at the Granite City Sectional, where the Edwardsville Tigers met the Harrisburg Bulldogs. After 14 innings that lasted 5 hours and 15 minutes, the Tigers won 10-9.

"THIS WAS one of the classic games of all time," said Edwardsville coach Tom Pile. "The blood-sugar was really up today."

The victory advanced Edwardsville into Monday's championship game against Belleville West (see related story), which defeated Highland 5-3 in Saturday's first semifinal.

Harrisburg jumped out to an early 6-0 lead, scoring four runs in three-plus innings off Tigers starting pitcher Ben Hickok and two more against reliever Chad Bollman.

Edwardsville (24-7), however, pecked away and finally tied the game in the bottom of the seventh on Jesse Bugger's bunt single.

IN THE EIGHTH, Brandon Reynolds' solo homer gave Harrisburg (11-17) a 7-6 lead, but Brian Allaria's RBI single in the last half of the eighth tied the game 7-7. The Tigers lost a chance to win the game in the inning, when Ben Slemmer

Tri-City defeats Highland in season opener

By Scott Wuerz
Correspondent

The Junior Triplets began their 1993 season Saturday with a 4-2 victory over Highland, and coach Jerry McKechan said he hopes the win is typical of his team's summer.

The Granite City-based Junior Legion team came away a winner despite getting only six hits with their trademark style of play: strong pitching and good defense.

Three of the Junior Triplets' runs came in the fourth inning. Catcher Scott Nemeth drove in a pair of runs with a double, then scored on a single off the bat of John Reader to put Tri-City ahead for good.

WINNING PITCHER Ryan Stegman threw four shutout innings, allowing only one hit and one walk while striking out four. Matt Krause pitched two innings of shutout relief, and Matt Tieman closed the door by pitching a one-run seventh inning.

The Junior Triplets started the season at 1-0, while Highland fell to 1-3.

McKechan said he believes the Junior Triplets will be among the leaders in District 22 because of their versatility and depth despite some strong competition.

MCKECHAN SAID the team, which is composed entirely of freshmen and sophomores from the Granite City High School baseball program, also has the petition.

"There should be several tough teams in our conference this season," McKechan said. "O'Fallon, Edwardsville and Belleville should all have tough teams, but we feel that we have the pitching we need to continue the winning tradition of Granite City Junior Legion Baseball."

luxury of having several players on the roster who are capable of playing several different positions.

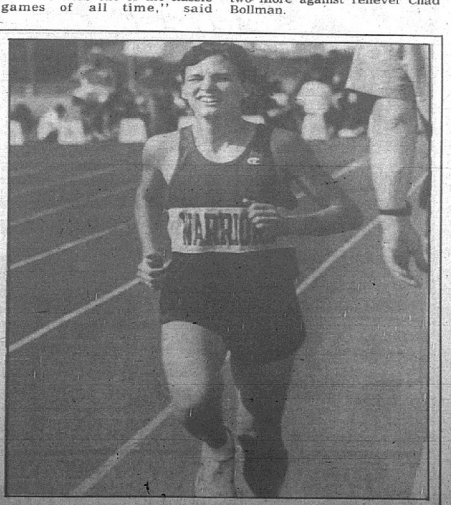

Jason Talley, Scott Nemeth and Ryan Stegman are pitchers who get into the game when they are not throwing by playing first base or in the outfield.

"We've got a team full of hustlers and those are the players who are fun to coach," McKechan said. "These boys have had the opportunity to play together for a couple of years now and they really know the game.

"Our goal every season is to win our division and take a shot at the state championship, and this year I think those might be realistic goals."

THE JUNIOR Triplets have been state title contenders the past two years. Last summer, Tri-City went 25-14 after losing to O'Fallon in the Mickey Mantle

Hightower to speak during parade

Men's college basketball official Ed Hightower will be the guest speaker Sunday during the third annual Quad City Flag Day Parade, which begins at 1 p.m. behind Granite City High School.

Hightower will speak during a short program Sunday. Hightower, of Alton, has been widely recognized as one of the top officials in the NCAA.

Hightower first officiated the NCAA Final Four in 1988 and has been a fixture at the event ever since. He also officiates games in the Big Ten, Big Eight, Great Midwest, Missouri Valley and Midwestern Conferences.

Hightower

Hightower, a graduate of Southern Illinois-Edwardsville, began his officiating career in an intramural basketball league at SIUE. He has received numerous awards over the years, including the Naismith College Basketball Official of the Year award in 1992.

Hightower, 42, also serves as principal at Eunice Smith Elementary School in Alton.

sailed over the net.

Baker said he was expecting the Lady Warriors to come back and win in the second half, something they did against Springfield in the sectional title game last week. With the score 1-1, Granite City exploded for three goals in the second half and beat Springfield 4-1.

In the second half against Downers South, goalkeeper Stephanie Kult got some help with her punts behind a strong wind. But the Lady Warriors were stopped on each scoring attempt.

The Mustangs scored in the first half at 8:50, when Stephanie Contole took a pretty pass from Julie Wilde and beat a diving Kult to the right side of the net.

"We felt their goal was a nice, hard-fought goal," Baker said. "But other than that...You just have to get the breaks."

Downers Grove South played a physical style that bothered the Lady Warriors, particularly in the second half. The Lady Warriors refused to retaliate, which seemed to encourage the Mustangs to play even rougher.

Downers Grove South was given a total of four yellow cards. The Lady Warriors received one, which went to Beth Rapoff.

"They were a very physical team," Baker said. "There were all kinds of things going on."

The Lady Warriors wore a blank look after the game. Just two years earlier, they had defeated the same team soundly 4-1.

In that contest, another quarterfinal game, Amanda Witter set a state record with three goals. Downers Grove South coach Barry Jacobson said that game was a "springboard" for the program.

The Mustangs went on to place third in last year's state tournament, and they went all the way to this year's state title game. The Mustangs upset top-ranked St. Charles in the semifinals Saturday morning in a game decided by penalty kicks in overtime.

With St. Charles out of the way, Schaumburg defeated Downers South 3-1 for the state title.

"I was surprised at that," Baker said.

The toughest part for Granite City, perhaps, was not the loss to Downers South — but the loss of eight seniors who were the foundation of this year's team: Kult, Goelan, Rapoff, Michelle Knox, Ann Logan, Suzanne Stuart, Tammy Dutko and Staci Johnson.

The Lady Warriors ended this season 16-4-1.

"They were a very good team," Baker said. "I'm proud of the kids. We have no qualms."

•Tigers

rapped into a 3-2-4 double play.

Edwardsville loaded the bases again with one out in the bottom of the ninth, but Harrisburg escaped when Chris Viox flied to short left and Chad Bollman flied to right.

The Bulldogs went up 9-7 in the 12th on RBI singles by Cory Patton and Brad Ziegler. But the Tigers — thanks to two of Harrisburg's eight errors — were able to tie the game on Tory Tate's two-run single against Ashley Gott, who worked 12 innings and threw more than 200 pitches.

THE TIGERS also appeared to have the game won in the 13th, but Jason Cluster was picked off third base by Harrisburg catcher Matt Winkleman for the second out of the inning.

Finally, in the bottom of the 14th, Bugger's squeeze bunt drove in Allaria with the game-winner. It was the fourth squeeze executed by the Tigers in the game.

"I just wanted to make sure it went fair," said Bugger. "I was pretty happy it went fair. I was just happy I didn't pop it up.

"I guess we knew we could come back, but I think there was some doubt."

HICKOK, WHO had been rocked by Harrisburg early in the game, came back to get the win. He allowed just one single and struck out two in his second appearance, a 1⅓-inning stint.

"I knew we'd give them a run for it, but I didn't know it would last 14 innings," said Hickok.

Harrisburg coach Fred Barnes was extremely disappointed by his team's inability to hold three leads.

"We let them off the hook at least three times when we had a lead," said Barnes. "You just can't let those guys keep coming back and keep coming back. Pretty soon, they're going to beat you."

Gott, who has signed with Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, gave a heroic performance before tiring as he warmed up for the 13th inning. He was replaced by Jason Roper, who was tagged with the loss.

"HE DID A great job," Barnes said of Gott. "It was a tough decision whether to take him out or not. He had to be getting tired, so we decided to make a change.

"The kids did a great job. I'm proud of them. They have nothing to be ashamed of, but I hate to let that sucker get away."

Pile said: "This team has surprised me all year long. You never know what's going to happen with the Tigers."

•Maroons

then flied out to left to end the Tigers' threat.

In the fourth, Ben Slemmer opened with a single. He advanced to second on Hilpert's wild pickoff attempt and to third on a grounder by Jesse Bugger. Evans' single narrowed West's lead to 4-1.

The Tigers, however, kept the pressure on when pinch runner Darrell Conner stole second. Mahler then hit a drive to left field that Ryan Tucker misjudged in the strong wind. But at the last moment, Tucker recovered to make a lunging catch, keeping Conner at second. Cluster struck out to end the inning.

"We'd have had two runs in on that," Tigers coach Tom Pile said, referring to Mahler's drive. "That would have made it 4-3. That could have gotten us right back in it. The kid made a great catch. That was heartache."

Edwardsville (24-8) had another opportunity to break through in the sixth. Ben Slemmer reached on a one-out throwing error by West shortstop Sean Keefe. He stole second, then swiped third as Bugger walked. Bugger stole second as Evans struck out on a low pitch from Hilpert, but Mahler flied to center to end the threat.

"You've got to get ahead of Edwardsville pretty darn fast and just hang on," said Hasenstab.

In the first inning against Edwardsville starter Brian Van Hook, West got an RBI double from Tippett, a run-scoring single from Matt Belosi and another RBI double from Brent Daubach.

The Maroons scored again in the second when Bugger committed an error on Tippett's grounder. The run was charged to Van Hook, who was replaced by Ben Hickok two batters into the second.

Hickok was brilliant in relief, working six innings and giving just two hits.

Traditional hula will greet tourists to Hawaii

Hula dancers greet Journal tourists on their visit to Hawaii during Christmas week and again on the annual Grand Hawaii Tour in February.

Journal readers will enjoy traditional hula performances when they travel to Hawaii during the Christmas holidays and in February for the annual Grand Tour.

Hula is believed to have accompanied Hawaii's first immigrants who sailed to Hawaii in about 500-600 A.D. This dance, when performed in public, was called "hula" but known as "Ha'a" when performed in temples.

The word hula in Hawaiian means dance.

Englishman Capt. James Cook visited the Hawaiian Islands in 1778 and provided the first written account of hula.

Since there is no written language of the Hawaiian people, nothing remains to prove the ancient existence of the hula, except Cook's journal entries.

Missionaries preaching Christianity arrived in Hawaii in the 1820s. They taught reading, writing and Bible studies to the Hawaiian people, but discouraged the practice of hula.

Hawaii's Queen Ka'ahumanau converted to Christianity five years after her reign began, following King Kamehameha I's death in 1819. She outlawed the public performance of hula, also believing it was not in keeping with Christian behavior and values.

Her successor, King Kamehameha III, decreed the hula was immoral.

In 1852, missionaries convinced the Hawaiian government to require individuals to obtain licenses and to pay large sums of money to hold public hula performances.

There was no law forbidding hula, but society's moral conscience held the "sway dance" was lewd.

It was not until King David Kalakaua's reign from 1874-1891 that hula regained acceptance.

Hula is based on a language that communicates history, legends and tales that have passed from generation to generation.

Journal readers will have ample opportunity to witness traditional hula performances when they travel to Hawaii this Christmas and again on the Grand Hawaiian Tour which departs in February. Both tours are limited to small groups.

The one-week Christmas Holiday Tour visits Oahu and Maui. The tour departs on Christmas Eve and returns on New Year's Day.

The Grand Hawaii Tour is scheduled to depart in February. This two-week tour will visit four islands.

Early reservations are encouraged for either of the Hawaiian Tours.

Contact a Vista World Travel independent agent or call Tenholder Travel at 800-333-5910 in St. Louis for complete details on these and all Journal-sponsored tours.

Square dancing entertains PSA

Holy Family's Parish School Association opened its meeting on March 22 at 7 p.m. with a prayer by Marge Ash, chairperson.

There were approximately 80 adults in attendance. Father Bill Fisherkeller, pastor, sent regrets that he was unable to attend but wanted everyone to know they were invited to the parish appreciation dinner at the Knights of Columbus Hall on April 17.

Sister Angelene, principal, stated that two of the snow days will be made up in the following way: Two Holy days that would have been half days of attendance will now be full days, and students came back from Easter vacation on April 14 instead of the 15th. School was out as of May 28.

March 29 was the wrap-up for the Rainbow program, which has 38 children, nine facilitators, and Judy Gavissky has been the coordinator. Each semester has had six meetings with a wrap-up session, which includes the parents.

Positive Peer Day was held Thursday March 18, for grades 7-8.

Science Fair projects were due April 2 with the fair itself being April 4.

Thanks to Georgia Wienhoff and all the women who helped for the Campbell labels. The school was able to send in 20,000, allowing purchase of basketballs for the athletic teams.

The annual ad contest, sponsored by Granite City businesses, was held for any 7th or 8th graders who wanted to enter. Mark Miller, 8th grade, won second place and received $25. Chrystal Petrillo, 8th grade, won third place and received $10.

Kiki Huff, an 8th grader, won first place in the American Legion Essay contest. The topic was "What I think of When I See the American Flag." Katie Ronk, 5th grader, took fourth place in the Knights of Columbus free-throw contest on the regional level. Susan Baker, a 6th grader, took first place along with Buddy Prazma, high school freshman and Holy Family alumni. Susan and Buddy competed for the state title on March 27.

The Book-It program has come to an end. Any class having made their quota of books read for four or five out of the five months the program ran will receive a pizza party, compliments of Pizza Hut.

After registration, the school has 48 students enrolled for kindergarten for the 1993-94 school year. The school can accommodate that number for kindergarten but presently not for first grade the following year.

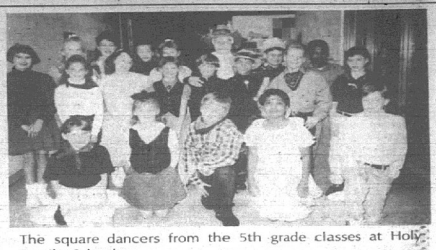

Marge Ash asked everyone to read over the minutes, which were taken and approved by a motion from Chris Miller and seconded by Elmer Long. First Pennance, for the 2nd graders, was held at the church. Stash the Trash was held on April 17. The Spring Concert was held May 6.

Nominations of officers for the April election were: chairperson elect, Diane McFain; treasurer, Angie and Charles Geer, Debbie Kelly, and Carla Cline; recording secretary, Mike and Jean Patton and Cathy Roberts; corresponding secretary, Ginger Roberts, Pat Hinds, Lisa Renner, and Metro Pierson.

Woody Halbrook, athletic chairperson, announced that the Sports Banquet was held on March 28. On the off-season, he will be trying to organize a new conference and will be working on scheduling, for the fall volleyball and basketball seasons.

Kevin Atkins and Angela Kromraj as they "bow to their partner".

Park District plans weekend in Chattanooga July 16-18

Chattanooga, Tenn., will be the destination of the third three-day weekend trip offered by the Granite City Park District this year.

The trip goes on sale at 8 a.m. Thursday, June 10, at the Wilson Park office. The dates of the trip are July 16, 17 and 18.

The cost of the trip will be $247.30 for a single reservation, $192.30 per person for a double room, $174.30 per person for three to a room, and $165.30 per person for four to a room.

This includes the cost of the bus transportation, the motel with two breakfasts, all sites mentioned and two dinners with shows.

The entire amount must be paid upon making reservations. One person can make reservations for one room, which can be for one to four people.

Proof of residency must be presented for each person, unless it is husband and wife.

Park District residents have priority and non-residents will be placed on a waiting list. Persons may call the Wilson Park office at 877-3059 for more information.

After arriving in Chattanooga, the group will check in at the Comfort Inn River Plaza, where it will be welcomed in the lobby with a punch and cookie reception and have the hotel's features explained.

The hotel provides a breakfast bar each morning and all guests receive a gift when leaving.

The weekend will begin with a tour of the Tennessee Aquarium, one of the largest in the world, featuring 4,000 varieties of fish, as well as river otters and alligators displayed in 40 exhibits. The tour starts at the top with a panoramic view of the Tennessee River and follows a course through mountain forests, swamps, valleys and lakes, as well as a 60-foot canyon and two living forests.

On Friday evening of the trip, there will be a dinner aboard the Southern Belle Riverboat. Entertainment will be by the "Riverboat Ramblers" while cruising down the Tennessee River.

On Saturday, the group will visit Ruby Falls, a cavern with unique formations and a 145-foot waterfall along a paved, level walkway. The lookout tower there provides a panoramic view of Chattanooga.

Also on Saturday will be a stop at the Inclined Railway, the world's steepest passenger railway. It takes people to the highest observation point on Lookout Mountain.

There will be a stop at Point Park, the site of the famous Civil War battle known as the "Battle Above the Clouds."

A short drive away is Rock City Gardens, the highly advertised tourist stop that boasts of huge boulders and lush gardens, as well as the Lover's Leap site where one can view parts of seven states.

The next stop of the day will be the Warehouse Row Factory Outlet Center.

Saturday evening will be spent at the Backstage Dinner Theater, featuring a comical stage play along with a full dinner.

After leaving the hotel on Sunday, the group will stop at the nation's oldest, largest and most visited national military park, the Chickamauga/Chattanooga National Military Park.

The group will arrive at Wilson Park in early evening.

Military

Wayne Delozier

Navy Petty Officer First Class Wayne A. Delozier, son of Gerald D. and Marion Delozier of Granite City, recently deployed aboard the destroyer tender USS Shenandoah, homeported in Norfolk, Va., for six months to the Mediterranean Sea as part of the aircraft carrier USS Theodore Roosevelt Battle Group.

The battle group will relieve the aircraft carrier USS John F. Kennedy Battle Group which deployed in October 1992.

This deployment marks the first time that a carrier battle group has sailed to the Mediterranean with a Special Purpose Marine Air-Ground Task Force (APMAGTF) on board. More than 600 Marines will be embarked aboard the USS Theodore Roosevelt, which will be configured with a specially tailored air wing.

The SPMAGTF will include a reinforced company-size ground combat element, and aviation combat element, and command and service support elements. Six Marine Corps CH—53D Sea Stallions and four UH-1N Huey helicopters will also be embarked aboard the Roosevelt.

The SPMAGTF will enhance the battle group's flexibility and capability in dealing with a wide range of contingencies. As an adaptive force package, it is trained to conduct civilian evacuations, and a host of other Navy/Marine Corps team missions.

Delozier joined the Navy in July, 1979.

Derrick Kingsley

Derrick Kingsley, a fourth class midshipman at the United States Naval Academy, recently competed in the National Rifle Association sectionals held at the Academy.

With the results of his performance, Kingsley was considered for one of the five varsity positions. After the final competition, in which Kingsley competed in a shoot-out with two other participants, he emerged with the highest score and was chosen out of 11 junior varsity members to shoot for the Naval Academy's exclusive Varsity pistol team for his next three years of his tenure as a midshipman.

Kingsley visited his home in Granite City in March for a week for spring break. After his return, he has six weeks of school and then marks the end of his first year at the academy.

This summer Kingsley will attend a three-week program at the United States Marine Corps Training Camp, as well as a four-week North Atlantic cruise with fellow midshipmen to experience first-hand navigational techniques.

Let summer fun grow at picnic...Page 3C

PARTY PLAN

By Janice Denham
Staff writer

Take a look in a mirror and say, "Let's party!" If the image looking back at you begins to scowl, it is time to break the routine. If the reflection smiles, relax and let the party begin.

Planning a party should be fun, just like the party is. The anticipation energizes everyone from host or hostess to those looking forward to coming.

Here are some tips for this event:

Look for a good mix of people to invite. If a possible heat/cold/wind/rain/storm stands in the way, relax a little. Limit the overload of invitations to a realistic few. A few people probably will not be able to make it anyway, which will leave breathing room in case a tempest should feel the urge to join the party, too.

Spread out tasks — realistically. Make lists. Invitations, decorations, major grocery shopping, make-ahead food preparation, table setting and last-minute details should fit a schedule that matches the lifestyle of the host or hostess and any helpers rounded up.

Keep it simple and be flexible. If baklava sounds impressive two weeks before the party, but its doing will prove to be the undoing of the hosts, scrap the idea, set out popcorn and concentrate on good conversation instead.

Let people help. If there is an offer to bring a dish, accept graciously. A person may be flattered to be asked to bring a specialty. On the other hand, do not make bringing a dish a requirement for the guest. If the timing may not be practical for the guest, because the timing may be part of an event, keep in mind a few less-expensive, pick-up type products, like paper plates for dessert, plastic forks or napkins.

If children will attend, offer diversions for them, too. Even a few videos or movies can keep them busy. Consider what they like to eat, and where they will eat to avoid extra cleanup later.

Prepare as much as possible ahead of time. Dips taste better when they sit a few hours in the refrigerator. Tortillas can be rolled with almost anything: sausage, cheese, Tex-Mex flavors, cream cheese and pickles, vegetable combinations. Prepare and roll in plastic wrap a day ahead of slicing in 1-inch lengths before serving. Have prepared salsa on hand as a dipping sauce.

If serving cheese, let it come to room temperature for best flavor. Like with other foods, it should not be left out more than two hours, which includes preparation time. For an elegant, no-fuss platter, use red and green grapes, fresh strawberries, pieces of honeydew melon and halved pecans to contrast with sharp cheddar, creamy Camembert, nut-like Gouda, colorful fontina and crumbly blue cheeses.

Include prepared foods to complement homemade fare. Deli salads, as well as sweet or savory bakery items, are a welcome to the party thrower. Serving finger foods with lots of napkins means forks and knives are not required.

A large fruit salad adds color, as well as light freshness, to a table of appetizers or a meal. Layer the fruit in a large glass bowl to show off nature's free colors, add ¼ cup sugar or honey mixed with 2 tablespoons rum or orange juice, plus ½ teaspoon grated orange or lime peel. Mix when ready to put on plates.

Some of these recipes use hard-cooked eggs; an inexpensive, flavorful ingredient that helps stretch the party budget. If training for healthy eating makes this combination less palatable, try throwing away half the yolks and substituting with extra egg whites.

To make hard-cooked eggs, add enough tap water to come at least 1 inch above eggs placed in single layer in saucepan. Cover. Quickly bring to just boiling. Remove from heat. Let eggs remain, covered, in hot water about 15 minutes for large eggs. Immediately run cold water over eggs or place them in ice water until completely cooled.

WARM MIMOSA SALAD

6 cups loosely packed, torn mixed greens (about 9 oz.)
6 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
2 small or 1 medium zucchini, cut in julienne strips (2 to 2½ cups)
1 cup thinly sliced onion (about 1 medium)
2 tbsp. oil
⅓ cup red wine vinegar
1½ tbsp. Dijon mustard
1½ tbsp. Italian seasoning, crushed
1 tsp. sugar
½ tsp. garlic powder
1 large tomato (7 to 8 oz.), cut in wedges

Tear greens into large bowl. Add eggs.

In 10-inch skillet or large saucepan over medium heat, cook zucchini and onion in hot oil, stirring occasionally, about 4 to 5 minutes until tender-crisp.

In small bowl, stir together vinegar, mustard, Italian seasoning, sugar and garlic powder. Pour over vegetables. Stir in tomato. Cook about 1 minute longer until heated through.

Pour dressing mixture over greens. Gently toss until evenly coated with dressing. Serve immediately.

Makes 6 servings.

SUN COUNTRY DEVILED EGGS

2 tbsp. sun-dried tomatoes
6 hard-cooked eggs
2 tbsp. reduced-calorie Italian salad dressing

Reconstitute tomatoes according to package directions. Finely chop.

Cut eggs lengthwise in half. Remove yolks and set aside whites. Mash yolks with fork. Stir in tomatoes and dressing until well blended.

Refill whites, using about 1 tablespoon yolk mixture for each egg half. Chill to blend flavors.

Makes 6 appetizer servings.

VERSATILE PARTY SPREAD

½ cup plain nonfat yogurt
½ cup reduced-fat mayonnaise
2 tsp. dill weed
½ tsp. garlic powder
2 cans (5 oz. each) boned chicken, drained
2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
6 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
1 cup finely chopped celery
1 cup Belgian endive leaves, frozen potato skins, Melba crackers or cocktail rye bread

In medium bowl, stir together yogurt, mayonnaise, dill and garlic powder until well-blended. Stir in chicken, egg and celery until well-combined. Chill, covered, to blend flavors.

Spoon into endive leaves or spread on crackers or bread. For hot appetizers, spoon into potato skins and bake on baking sheet in preheated 425° oven about 10 minutes until heated through.

Makes about 3 cups spread.

QUICK-AND-EASY CARROT CAKE

2 cups flour
2 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. cinnamon
½ cup oil
2 cups firmly packed brown sugar
4 eggs
3 cups (4½ to 5 oz.) shredded carrot
1 can (8 oz.) crushed pineapple in juice
½ cup chopped pecans
Creamy Frosting

Preheat oven to 350°. Lightly grease 13-by-9-inch baking pan.

In small bowl, stir together flour, baking powder and cinnamon.

In large mixing bowl, using electric mixer at medium speed, beat together oil, brown sugar and eggs until well-blended. At low speed, gradually beat flour mixture into egg mixture. Beat until well-blended. Stir in carrot, pineapple and pecans.

Pour into prepared pan. Bake in preheated oven about 35 to 40 minutes until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean.

Cool in pan on wire rack. Spread Creamy Frosting over top. Refrigerate.

Creamy Frosting: In small mixing bowl, using electric mixer on low speed, gradually beat 3 cups confectioner's sugar into 4 ounces neufchatel (light cream) cheese, softened. Beat until well blended.

ITALIAN TIDBITS

6 eggs
½ cup skim or low-fat milk
1 cup flour
¼ cup grated parmesan cheese
½ tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. garlic salt
½ cup pizza sauce
1 can (2.25 oz.) sliced ripe olives, drained
½ cup chopped green onion with tops
¼ cup chopped red or green bell pepper
½ cup (2 oz.) shredded mozzarella cheese

Preheat oven to 325°. Lightly grease 12-by-8-inch baking dish.

In medium bowl or blender, beat together eggs and milk until blended.

In small bowl, stir together flour, parmesan cheese, baking powder and garlic salt. Add to egg mixture. Blend until smooth.

Pour into prepared baking dish through batter, swirling sauce into batter. Drop fork through batter, swirling sauce into batter. Sprinkle with olives, bell pepper and onion. Bake in preheated oven over top. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake 5 to 10 minutes longer until 20 minutes. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake 5 to 10 minutes longer until knife inserted in center comes out clean.

Cut diagonally to form triangles. Serve hot, or chill to serve cold.

Recipe

Sunrise omelet

¾ cup (1¼ oz.) dried tomato halves
4 small potatoes (¾ lb.)
¼ cup (½ stick) butter or margarine, divided
3 green onions, sliced
½ cup sliced ripe olives
¾ cup chunky mild salsa
Salt and pepper to taste
8 large eggs
¼ cup water
1 tbsp. chopped fresh cilantro

In small bowl, cover tomatoes with boiling water. Let sit 10 minutes. Drain thoroughly.

Pierce potatoes with fork. Microwave on high power 5 minutes. Cool slightly. Slice ¼-inch thick.

Melt 2 tablespoons butter in 12-inch nonstick skillet over medium-high heat. Cook potatoes about 6 minutes, turning occasionally, until crisp and golden. Add tomatoes, onion, olives and salsa. Heat through. Season with salt and pepper. Keep hot.

In bowl, beat eggs with water and cilantro.

For each omelet, melt ½ tablespoon butter in 8-inch nonstick skillet over medium-low heat. Add ½ cup egg mixture. Tilt pan and, using spatula, gently lift edge of omelet as it cooks, allowing uncooked portion to flow underneath. Cook until set but still moist.

Spoon one-fourth filling over half of omelet. Carefully fold other half over filling. Loosen omelet and slide onto warmed plate. Repeat with remaining ingredients.

Makes 4 servings.

Let the summer fun grow at picnic

By Mary Schroepfer

Family reunions, wedding receptions, youth-camp cookouts and church picnics are part of summer's fun. Like many people who cook, I often find myself on the food committee for my mom's family reunion every year. Lots of questions about feeding a crowd come up annually as well.

Quantity: A big question is how much food to buy to feed a crowd. It helps to know there are 16 slices of bread per pound, and that it takes 3 to 3½ ten-inch cakes to serve 50, allowing 14 to 16 slices per cake.

University Extension has charts which help with recipe conversion and quantity buying. "Meal Plans for a Club, Church or Civic Group" contains charts, recipes and organization tips. Order for $3 from University Extension, P.O. Box 71, Union, Mo. 63084.

Preparation time: Go for simple menus. Plan a menu that requires only one or two hot foods and very few that require last-minute preparation. After all, the cook likes to visit, too.

Temperature of foods: Cook foods thoroughly. Keep hot foods above 140°F; keep cold foods below 40°F. Do not allow foods to stand at room or outdoor temperature more than two hours, including preparation, set-up and serving time.

Storage: Make sure there is adequate refrigerator space to store prepared and perishable leftovers. Consider how many trays of perishable foods can be stored easily in the refrigeration space available. Keep some space free to store leftovers.

Wise Ways

A crowded refrigerator cannot cool foods properly. Store leftovers in shallow pans for quick, safe cooling. Change menus if too many foods require refrigeration. Free space by replacing cheesecake with a decorated cake, fruit cobbler or brownies.

Re-contamination: Food poisoning can occur if the juice from raw poultry drips on any other prepared food. Store cooked foods above raw meat, fish or poultry. Some foods can be stored on ice in ice chests. Cover tightly and do not mix salads or ready-to-eat foods with raw meat or poultry.

A handy reference is C1319, "Food Sanitation for Bazaars, Buffets and Community Suppers," available for $1 from Ag Publications, 69 Mumford Hall, University of Illinois, Urbana, Ill. 61801.

Cleanliness: Wash hands thoroughly before handling any food and after touching raw food. Clean utensils and work surfaces after touching uncooked meat, fish, poultry or eggs. Replace wiping cloths, sponges and towels often.

Nutrition: Plan menus with a wide variety of delicious foods. Fruits and vegetables add color and crisp texture as well as vitamins A and C, potassium and fiber. Cheese, milk and yogurt add protein, calcium and vitamins. Whole grain bread, pasta and cereal add carbohydrate, fiber, vitamins and minerals. Meats, fish, eggs and poultry add protein, iron and zinc.

A good camping menu might include sloppy joes on a toasted bun, slaw with an oil and vinegar dressing, sliced tomatoes and pickles, baked beans and sliced watermelon or other fresh fruit of the season.

Sloppy Joes for 25

- 1½ cups minced onion
- 1½ cups chopped celery
- 1½ cups chopped green bell pepper, seeds and membrane removed
- ¼ cup oil
- 5 lb. lean ground beef
- ¾ cup chili sauce
- 1½ cups water
- 25 hamburger buns, split, slightly toasted

Heat oil in large kettle or Dutch oven. Heat onion, celery and green pepper until vegetables are wilted and limp.

Add ground beef. Cook and stir until meat is lightly browned. Drain fat.

Add chili sauce and water. Simmer, uncovered, over low heat 15 to 20 minutes until thick.

Spoon meat onto hamburger buns.

Note: For spicier meat, replace some water with more chili sauce.

Makes 25 servings; 399 calories, 27 g protein, 17 g fat (40 percent calories from fat), 73 g cholesterol, 454 mg sodium, 3.6 mg (20 percent RDA) iron, 60 percent RDA protein and 34 percent RDA zinc each.

Cole slaw for 25

- 3 lb. cabbage, shredded or finely sliced
- ½ lb. carrots, grated
- 2 cups oil and vinegar salad dressing
- 2½ tbsp. sugar
- 2 tsp. salt
- 1 tbsp. celery seed or 2 tbsp. prepared mustard, if desired

Combine salad dressing, sugar and salt. Pour over cabbage and carrot. Mix well. Let stand 30 minutes before serving.

Serve 3 ounces (No. 12 scoop), without compressing slaw into scoop or letting it retain shape of scoop. Dip from bottom of container.

Makes 25 servings; 113 calories, 10 g fat (80 percent calories from fat), 184 mg sodium, 26 percent RDA vitamin A, 44 percent RDA vitamin C and 39 percent RDA vitamin E each. Because almost all the calories are from the salad dressing, they can be reduced by switching to a low-calorie salad dressing.

Mexican Slaw: Add ½ pound green pepper, chopped, and 2½ ounces chopped pimento.

Home economist Mary Schroepfer is food and nutrition specialist for University of Missouri Extension in Franklin County.

Grill a taco burger; serve with guacamole

Combine 1 pound ground turkey, ¼ cup taco sauce and ½ teaspoon salt. Evenly divide mixture into four patties ½-inch thick. Grill 5 to 6 minutes per side until no longer pink in center. Top each burger with 1 slice reduced-fat cheese 1 minute before second side is done.

Place each burger on bottom half of hamburger bun. Garnish with 1 tablespoon frozen guacamole dip. Top with other half of bun.

Makes 4 servings; 395 calories, 32 g protein, 19 g fat, 23 g carbohydrate, 835 mg sodium and 80 mg cholesterol each.

Children's play 'Honkybird' presented by BAC company

Stepping back in time is the only way the characters of the children's play "Honkybird" can find a way to restore goodwill and cheer to their kingdom.

"Honkybird," presented by Belleville Area College Children's Theater Touring Company, promises to transport its young viewers along on this quest for goodwill, said director Mac Chamblin, a BAC speech instructor.

The theme of this fable is restoring goodwill to people who have lost it, he said.

The characters in the fictional kingdom discover that their statue of goodwill is missing and a cloud begins to loom over their heads. Three brave villagers defy the queen's order and step back in time to find out what happened to their goodwill.

Though there are many zany characters and plenty of plot twists, the message should come across loud and clear to the audience.

"When goodwill is in the air there is kindness everywhere," is one of the lines in the script.

"Honkybird" is the 23rd annual production of the BAC Children's Theater Touring Company.

The 55-minute children's play was written by Jack Stokes, the founding director of the touring company. Stokes wrote most of the plays performed by the company in the last 23 years.

The cast of the play is made up of students: Kelly O'Donnell of Millstadt plays Queen Big Ma'am; Mimi Kuebel of Belleville plays Little Sister; Shane Reilly of O'Fallon plays Citizen Wann;

Leigh Spivey of Mascoutah plays Citizen Dwee; Joel Hernandez of Belleville plays Citizen Dhoo; Samantha Smithson of O'Fallon plays Strange Lady; Christopher Boyster of Sparta plays Prime Minister Blurh Van Blogh;

Carrie Mueller of Belleville plays Zebulon Pesmith; Christopher Carl of Belleville plays Elmer; Chamblin plays sculptor Fred P. Smith; Joyce Maurer of Belleville plays Mag Robo; Jennifer Wagen of Mascoutah plays Jannigan De Coco;

Ryan Schwartz of Belleville plays both The messenger and Honkybird; Lynn Erlinger of Belleville plays Buzzfusser One; and Jo Brannan of Belleville plays Buzzfusser Two.

On tour the BAC Children's Theater Touring Company presented "Honkybird" at local elementary schools in the college district and in the BAC Belleville Campus Theater.

Dancing, classes set at Mounds

Craft classes, Indian dancing, a summer sunrise observance and an Indian food festival highlight June activities at Cahokia Mounds State Historic Site.

A copper tooling class for children eight years and under will be held Saturday, June 12, from 10-11 a.m. and another for children 9-16 years of age from 10-11 a.m. Saturday, June 19.

Both classes will be taught by Lynn Kussman, a Cherokee, who will explain the meaning of several prehistoric Indian symbols and held class members make copper necklaces with the symbols in relief. Advance registration and a $5 fee are required.

The Kahok Dancers will present free Indian dance demonstrations on Sunday, June 13, and Sunday, June 27. Each presentation will include performances at noon, 1:30 and 3 p.m.

The dancers, from Collinsville, have performed interpretive Indian dance at Cahokia Mounds and many other locations for more than 40 years.

An Indian Food Festival will be held Saturday, June 19, from 1:30-4 p.m. in the Interpretive Center Auditorium.

Demonstrations of Comanche cooking by Evelyne Voelker and Northeast Indian cooking by Caroline Williams will be conducted, and visitors may sample traditional foods from the Northeast, Southeast, Plains and Southwest. Children can grind corn on a stone slab or in a wooden mortar, crack nuts with nutting stones and more.

This free event is open to the public.

The Summer Solstice Sunrise will be observed on Sunday, June 20, at the reconstructed Woodhenge sun calendar one-half mile west of Monks Mound.

Observers should arrive by 5:20 a.m. to hear how Woodhenge was discovered, how it functions, and watch as the sunrise aligns with a post in the circle. Refreshments will be available.

Three adult craft classes will be taught the last weekend in June by Pablita Kelly of Jicarrilla Apache and Taos Pueblo descent. All classes required advance registration.

PTA officers attend convention

Local delegates attended a Parent-Teacher Association convention held April 28 through May 1 in Chicago. The following officers of Parkview PTA attended: Tammy Thomas, president; Harlon Keel, vice president; Mendy Weston, secretary; LaVon Lemler, treasurer and Merri Jones, secretary-elect.

"The convention was a great success," said Keel. "Many issues were presented and discussed in detail. A unanimous ballot was cast to support legislation on additional signage, traffic control, new paint for crosswalks and speed bumps in the immediate area of schools as cautionary measures."

Other items discussed were home schooling and educational evaluations.

Brenda Edgar, the First Lady of Illinois, introduced a new program called READS (Retirees Educating and Assisting in the Development of Students). This program is to be sent to all schools in Illinois with the intent of involving retirees in public education.

A panel consisting of four Chicago high school pupils discussed "What Every Teenager Does Not Talk to His/Her Parents About."

Workshops and seminars dealt with PTA involvement, educational legislation and community awareness of PTA and its programs.

Keel said, "You can't help but get excited about our kids, our schools and the public educational system after attending this kind of convention. If you aren't involved with your child's education, you should join and be active in your local PTA unit."

Parkview PTA sponsors monthly skating parties, annual Christmas and fall frolics, annual book fairs, carnivals and other events.

Eagles Auxiliary 1126 officers are nominated

Eagles Auxiliary 1126 held a nomination of officers for the year 1993-94 at its regular meeting.

Officers nominated were as follows: junior past president, Joanna Spencer; president, Barbara Modrusic; vice president, Ann Pates; chaplain, Connie Motill; conductor, Jennie Orender; inside guard, Marian Wright; outside guard, Bonnie Jacobs; three-year trustee, Evaleen Ederle and Nina Jackson.

Delegates to the State Convention to be held in Peoria, were: Katie Kostoff, Barbara Modrusic, Helen Lipchik, Vera Johnson, Ann Pates, Joanna Spencer, Vincine Zerlan, and Florence "Fuzz" Hagnauer. Election was held at the May meeting.

President Joanna Spencer opened the meeting and Vera Johnson, conductor, attended the flag and placed the Bible and the emblem of the home at the altar.

Secretary Vincine Zerlan read two applications for membership; investigating chairman Flo Stokes gave her report, and members balloted on one applicant. Visiting chairman Evaleen Ederle sent three sympathy cards and two get well cards to members.

An initiation ceremony was held for Bobbie Haddix and Jeanette Sechrest. They were presented with a book of rules and regulations and their membership cards.

Three auxiliary members were presented with certificates and inducted into the State Brass Ring Club by Auxiliary State President Shirley Curry. Certificates read as follows: "In sincere appreciation of exceptional service to and support of the 1992-93 Illinois State FOE Auxiliary President." Recipients were Vincine Zerlan, Angie Buehler, and Florence Hagnauer.

Attendance prizes were awarded to Joanna Spencer and Dorothy Langford.

Medicare does not pay for 'custodial' care

By Bill Hunot
Social Security Administration

Q. My mother has been in a nursing home for several weeks. She has Medicare, but I've been told that Medicare won't help pay her bill because she's there for "custodial" care. What does that mean?

A. In some cases, Medicare can help pay for short stays in a Medicare-certified skilled nursing facility if a patient needs daily skilled nursing or rehabilitative services. However, Medicare does not pay for stays in nursing facilities if the reason for the stay is to get custodial care.

Care is considered custodial when it is primarily for meeting personal needs and could be provided by people without professional medical skills or training. Custodial care includes, but is not limited to, help in walking, getting in and out of bed, dressing, eating, bathing or taking medicine.

Q. I have a medical condition that will require me to undergo some expensive laboratory tests. Will Medicare pay for them?

A. Maybe. Medicare can help pay for diagnostic tests provided by independent laboratories that are certified for the services you will receive. Not all laboratories are certified by Medicare, and some are certified only for certain kinds of tests. Check with your doctor or call Medicare at 1-800-638-6833 to see if the tests you need are covered.

Q. How long should I wait before contacting my Medicare carrier to check on the status of a claim?

A. Allow 45 days for the claim to be paid. If you have not received a check or an Explanation of Medicare Benefit statement after 45 days, call the Medicare carrier for your area. Medicare carriers are the insurance companies that have a contract with Medicare to handle claims paperwork. The name and phone number of the carrier in your area can be found in the back of "The Medicare Handbook." You can get a free copy of the handbook by calling Social Security at 1-800-772-1213.

Q. My 19-year-old brother graduated from a vocational school last year but has not been able to find a job in his specialty. Since he has no income and few resources, can he get Supplemental Security Income (SSI)?

A. While SSI is a needs-based program, which means there are limits on income and resources, there is another requirement: An SSI recipient must be 65 or older, or blind, or disabled. Disabled means a person has a physical or mental condition preventing him or her from doing any kind of substantial work. A disability also must be expected to last for at least 12 months or result in death.

Q. I intend to spend the first two years of my retirement in England. Can I get my Social Security check sent to England or must I have it deposited in an American bank?

A. Banks in the United Kingdom offer their customers the advantage of direct deposit. Once you have arrived in England and opened a bank account, complete a direct-deposit sign-up form to have your Social Security check sent to your bank in England. The bank will forward the form to the federal benefits unit at the United States Embassy for processing.

Address questions for Bill Hunot to West County Publications, 1714 Deer Tracks Trail, St. Louis, Mo. 63131.

Adult life finally catches up with Fox in 'Life With Mikey'

By Harry Hamm
Correspondent

Michael J. Fox says he has been spending a good portion of his film career trying to catch his fans off guard.

The Canadian-born performer says he doesn't want audiences only to remember him as Alex P. Keaton from "Family Ties" or the time-traveling boy-next-door, Marty McFly, from the "Back To the Future" films. But that effort comes at a price, Fox admits.

Fox, who will be 32 on Wednesday and is married to actress Tracey Pollan, complains about his hectic schedule. Earning a reported average of $5 million per movie, he has three films ("Life With Mickey," "For Love Or Money" and "Greed") opening between the summer and the end of 1993.

Fox has also just signed to direct for the first time. The film is called "Thirty Wishes" and goes into production early in 1994.

Fox says his days are so jammed with different projects, he usually answers the phone with the word "What" instead of "Hello."

"My sister called me the other day and asked me what I was doing the next week," Fox said. "I told her I wasn't sure what I was doing that day, let alone the following week. The whole schedule thing has made me lazy about everyday stuff, I confess.

"I've even got an assistant who programs my VCR for me. I just haven't taken the time to learn."

In his new movie opening this weekend, "Life With Mickey," Fox's character, Michael Chapman, bears some minor resemblance (professionally speaking) to Fox.

Chapman is an ex-child television star who headlined a kind of "Leave It To Beaver" family sitcom called "Life With Mikey." Adulthood has found Chapman out of the limelight and running a kids' talent agency with his long-suffering brother, Ed, played by Broadway and film veteran, Nathan Lane.

Chapman's life is turned upside down when he comes into contact with a little con artist named Angie, played by 11-year-old newcomer Christine Vidal. He not only becomes her agent, but also a surrogate parent.

Fox says he is happy with "Life With Mikey" because he feels it offers parents and children an alternative in a summer full of movies.

"First and foremost, it's a comedy," he said. "It's supposed to entertain families. And when parents decide they don't want to send their kids to see the killer dinosaurs or Arnold killing a bunch of people, you can see this and giggle.

"But having said that, I think that this movie is about families and unconventional families and people forging new connections and taking care of one another. It isn't just a commentary about show business or child actors.

"What I really liked about the story is that it's about a guy who never had a childhood and who was reluctant to accept any kind of maturity, running into a little girl who never had a childhood and is forced to act like an adult. She gives him the confidence enough to accept adulthood."

Horoscope

Saturn in Pisces going stationary retrograde helps you take stock of material or business situations. Ideas come that show you how to bolster the weak spots. In one sense, reorganization of what you've already established is more important than starting something new. The results of this process of assessment will be forthcoming in late October.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Being playful with your partner helps alleviate tension. Best friends tell you the truth even if it may be hard to hear. The public will love your confident and courageous personality. Personal freedom is an absolute must.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Associates elude your control unless you tone down the tendency to manipulate. You can get out of a financial tight spot by coming up with an idea that appeals to a broad cross section of cultures. Massage relieves stress.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21) Speaking your mind at the drop of the hat feels good but could lead to complications later. Friendship with Aquarius and Leo grows. Cutting back on expenditures helps your overall financial picture. Share responsibility.

CANCER (June 22-July 22) Resist the desire to withdraw from the world; in two more weeks, you will feel reborn. Housesitting is a great way to make extra money. Have fun coming up with an innovative menu. Impulse expenditures are a temptation.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Super-abundant energies draw attention easily. Getting temperamental now could cause bad feelings. By practicing more forethought, you can minimize your chance of getting a speeding ticket, from now through June 22.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (June 9). Career direction is of major importance in '93. If you want to lead, now is when to step forward. Use this month for healing and planning; attend to health-related issues. Increased ambition in July. Long delays begin to show a positive direction in August. From September on, new plans take more of your time. Partnerships smooth out in October. Practice efficient money management in December and February.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Incorporating innovations makes work a breeze. Research the right office equipment to buy; you could easily find a fantastic bargain. Personal habits are easier to break, particularly smoking or overeating.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Suppressing emotions can be counterproductive; instead, share with someone you trust. Spiritual help comes from someone you thought you'd never see again. With enough coaxing, you can win over a colleague.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21) Do what you can to bolster a friend. You may make a major difference in your community's education system. People will know you according to the friends you keep. You might have to shock to get attention.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) The clearer your sense of career direction, the sooner you arrive. Your partner may assume a greater sense of self-responsibility, inspiring you to do the same. Almost everywhere you look there's an opportunity.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) What matters is not speed but consistency. Membership in a spiritual group could bring the inner confidence you seek. Rather than agonize over decisions, make the best choice in the moment and move on.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Self-improvement programs will accelerate your self-growth to a fantastic degree. Face the inevitable: Your dream is to run a business of your own. Health matters can improve if you give yourself enough attention.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) When you rely fully on intuition, even complicated problems can be resolved. Prepare now for the coming cycle of productivity that will keep you busy for the next two years. Shortcuts work to your advantage.

Voice Introduction Personals

SUCCESS STORY

Hi, my name is Eileen and I never imagined I could find the man of my fantasies through a newspaper ad. Well, it happened, and it made me realize that dreams do come true. Tim was the second ad that I dated through your column. He is the most wonderful, caring, loving man I have ever met. And, more importantly, he is honest, sincere and committed. I could not have found anyone like him if I had searched the world over. We were definitely meant to be. To top it all off, he is breathtakingly gorgeous! Don't give up, there's someone wonderful out there for you, too!
